

The Nightly News Nightmare: Televisions Coverage of U.S. Presidential Elections, 1988-2004

Beginning with the 1988 presidential election and now updated through 2004, The Nightly News Nightmare shows how network news coverage of what is arguably the nation's most important political event has declined. Through extensive analysis of news content from the Big Three and Fox, acclaimed media scholars Farnsworth and Lichter compare what the candidates said with what the networks say they said and judge the disparity a nightmare. The authors go on to suggest that perhaps the candidates themselves do a better job of portraying the campaigns than those who used to be the trusted network guardians of the news. While making clear that overall coverage of the Bush-Kerry race marked an improvement compared to previous elections, Farnsworth and Lichter also point out that in other ways, things were worse.

No stencils or patterns are ever used. Every birdhouse is treated with several coats of high quality exterior varnish for protection from the elements and to ensure colors will stay bright throughout the seasons. Birds love gourds for nesting and will often return to the same one year after year. When nesting season ends, the gourd's usefulness doesn't end. Birds will continue to use them as shelter from weather and for protection from predators.
