

AAA Handbook on Commercial Arbitration

It is with both pride and pleasure that the Penn State University Dickinson School of Law and the Institute of Dispute Resolution present the first of the AAA GUIDES on arbitration and ADR. The GUIDES contain recent important publications on the subject matter of each GUIDE written by authors who are recognized specialists in that area. Often the authors have both national and international reputations in the area. The contributions cover a wide array of topics that are of substantial interest in the field and provide analytically thorough, professional, and practical answers to problems that have emerged in the field. The articles were selected from an extensive body of writings and, in the main, represent world class assessments of arbitration and practice. All the major facets of the field are addressed. The articles provide the reader with comprehensive and accurate information, lucid evaluations, and an indication of future developments. They not only acquaint, but also ground the reader in the field. The American Arbitration Association, Juris Publishing, Inc., and Penn State welcome the opportunity to provide readers with a body of knowledge and interpretation that will allow them to take an active and effective part in arbitration and ADR. Arbitration and ADR are rapidly emerging as the new vehicles for legality and fairness in the social order both domestically and internationally.

No stencils or patterns are ever used. Every birdhouse is treated with several coats of high quality exterior varnish for protection from the elements and to ensure colors will stay bright throughout the seasons. Birds love gourds for nesting and will often return to the same one year after year. When nesting season ends, the gourd's usefulness doesn't end. Birds will continue to use them as shelter from weather and for protection from predators.
